READY SEPTEMBER 7

The New Novel by ANTHONY HOPE, author of "Quisante," "Phroso," "The Prisoner of Zenda," etc.

A SERVANT of the PUBLIC

This story, in Mr. Hope's happiest vein, promises to be his most successful recent novel. It is a sympathetic study of the private life and feelings of a famous actress—of how her profession influenced her actions and made her what she was. While about an actress it is not about the stage, and holds nothing in common with the conventional novel of the theater.

Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50

Ready Sept. 14th

The SPECULATIONS of JOHN STEELE

By ROBERT BARR, author of "The Victors," "Tekla," etc.

Recently published serially in the Saturday Evening Post.

A story of modern American business and political life, dealing intimately with great questions that are at present agitating the public mind.

With 8 illustrations by F. R. Gruger. 12mo, cloth, $1.50

THE BEST FICTION

Mr. Sousa's

Pipetown Sandy

 Ready about August 20th

The march king again shows that his skill with the pen is equal to that with the baton.

"Pipetown Sandy" is a tale of Mr. Sousa's own city of Washington in the sixties, combining adventure, humor, the tenderness of boyhood, and a novel love plot.

Sandy himself is unlike anybody you have ever met before, but for all that he is the realest of the real.

By JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, author of "The Fifth String."

Many illustrations by C. L. HINTON, 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA

David Graham Phillips's The Plum Tree

"David Graham Phillips's latest novel, 'The Plum Tree,' is for Americans the most important story of the year, or, indeed, of recent years—by far the most important."—The Arena.

Illustrated by E. M. ASHE. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Geraldine Bonner's The Pioneer

"Miss Bonner has stepped into a conspicuous place as a writer of fiction of the earlier mining times in California. She invests her story, 'The Pioneer,' with all the charm of Bret Harte."—Boston Herald.
Illustrated by HARRISON FISHER. 12mo, $1.50.

Anna Katharine Green's The Millionaire Baby

"One reads from page to page with breathless interest."—New York Times.

"The reader is kept in a state of tiptoe expectation from chapter to chapter."—Boston Herald.

Illustrated by A. I. KELLER. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

E. U. Valentine's Hecla Sandwith

"'Hecla Sandwith' is a typical American novel, drawing its inspiration from the native soil, elevated in tone and striding forward almost abreast of George Eliot and Thomas Hardy."—Boston Herald.

Bound in ornamental cloth, 12mo. 443 pages, $1.50.

Alice Winter's The Prize to the Hardy

"By far the best story in many months."—Harrisburg Patriot. "Breezy and picturesque, one of the most noteworthy books of the day."—Cincinnati Enquirer. "It is swift in the telling; dramatic, tender and witty."—St. Paul Dispatch.

Illustrated by R. M. CROSBY. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

George Horton's The Monks' Treasure

"In 'The Monks' Treasure' will be found that rare combination, a thrilling tale put in an idyllic setting, and told with genuine literary art."—The New York Globe.

Frontispiece by C. M. RELYEA. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Harold MacGrath's

THE MAN ON THE BOX

"The smartest novel of the season."—St. Paul Dispatch. "Vastly exciting and satisfying."—New York Times. "Will hold any audience breathless."—Atlanta Constitution. "Novel, ingenious, bubbling."—San Francisco Call. Illustrated by HARRISON FISHER. 12mo. $1.50.

MINERVA'S MANOEUVRES

"STEAL AWAY"

FREDERIC R. GRUGER, the artist, writes to CHARLES BATTELL LOOMIS, the author:

"I want to tell you how thoroughly I have enjoyed the reading of your story. As a rule the sight of galley proofs makes me shudder, but I enjoyed every line of these, and when I came to the last 'Yas'm' I wanted more."

MINERVA'S MANOEUVRES will be published about August 25th.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY, after August 5, will have full control of the books of Richardson, Smith & Co.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will publish September 7 "A Servant of the Public," a new novel by Anthony Hope, the story of an actress, but of her private life, not about the stage; and on September 14 they will have ready "The Speculations of John Steele," by Robert Barr, with illustrations by F. R. Gruger.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD will publish on the 15th inst. a new novel by Harry Leon Wilson, the author of "The Spenders," etc., entitled "The Boss of Little Arcady." It is a story of village life in the mid-West, with two heroes, one the editor of a weekly paper, the other his staunch friend, though his rival in love. The story is told by the friend, who left the village at the call to arms in 1860 to return a major and to resume his law practice. The story is well told and abounds in kindly, humorous and pathetic touches.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish next month Professor Ettore Pais's work on "Ancient Legends of Roman History," translated from the manuscript by Maris E. Cosenza, of the College of the City of New York. The book treats of the legends of early Rome, and is furnished with new explanations of such primitive fables as those of the Horatii, Acca Larentia, Servius Tullius, etc. It will contain many illustrations in half-tone and in the text. The author is one of the faculty of the University of Naples, and is the author of histories of Sicily and Rome, etc. They have in preparation a new edition of Tennyson's "Maud," with illustrations and decorations by Margaret and Helen Maitland Armstrong.

DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready "What to Have for Dinner," by Fannie Merritt Farmer, illustrated with many colored plates; "Chronicles of the Little Tot," in the well-known child verse of Edmund Vance Cooke, which promises to be a leading holiday book in its season; "Games for Everybody," by M. E. Hofmann, dealing only with indoor games; "Euterpe," the first volume of a collection of madrigal and other music of the 16th and 17th centuries, edited by Charles Kennedy Scott; "Wandering Willie's Tale," by Sir Walter Scott, in the Little Prose Masterpieces series; and in the King's Classics series "The Nun's Rule," being the "Ancien Ricole," modernized by James Morton and edited by Professor Gallancz.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have recently brought out a volume entitled "Mary, Queen of Scots: Her Life Story," by A. H. Millar, who tells in a straightforward way the story of the romantic and picturesque events in the life of one of the most interesting women in history. They have just published in the World's Epoch Makers a scholarly study of "Socrates," by the Rev. J. T. Forbes, who not only treats of Socrates as a man and one of the greatest of epoch makers, but also treats of the religious and moral thought of Greece as voiced in the works of the great Greek tragedians; also, a new and attractive life of William Hogarth, by G. Baldwin Brown, in which the great artist is treated not merely as a satirist, but in a broader way as one of the makers of British art, because he was one of the first outstanding personalities of the English school of painting.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

 The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The author has tried to give a literary version, based on middle English metrical versions, of a mediaeval story, recounting the exploits of Guy of Warwick, how he won renown and his lady in many battles and feats of strength, and then gave up home and wife in order to make peace with God by going on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land and later becoming a hermit. The site of his hermitage is still pointed out as Guy's Cliff near Warwick.

E. V. Harrington, whose memoirs are here presented, stands for a certain class of American business men of the present day—uncultured, unscrupulous and ambitious—eager to make money quickly, not questioning the methods. He came to Chicago in 1877 a penniless boy, found a situation to drive a butcher's wagon, and gradually rose to be a man of prominence and the moving spirit of the great Meat Products Company, finally representing Illinois in the U. S. Senate. A glimpse is given of the days of the Haymarket riot and the trial that followed; also of the great World's Fair. While the people and incidents are commonplace, Mr. Herrick pictures phases of American life successfully.

Hadley owes its existence to a religious controversy in the churches of Hartford and Wethersfield. It grew so hot that Governor John Webster and his friends decided to seek a new home where they could be at peace. Consequently in 1659 a company of sixty colonists journeyed fifty miles through the wilderness and laid the foundation of the present town of Hadley in the Connecticut Valley. Sylvester Judd's "History" of this enterprise was published in 1863. It has long been out of print and the demand for a new edition has led to this republication. A biographical sketch of Judd is included.

Hadji Khan, calling himself "Haji Raz," is a devout Mohammedan who has been educated in England. Like all sincere followers of the Prophet he determines to undertake the pilgrimage to Mecca, the highest act of devotion in the Mohammedan faith. After introductory chapters on Mohammedan rites and beliefs and on different Persian sects, the authors tell the story of the pilgrimage from London to Mecca and describe the various observances enjoined during the days of the Hadji. The concluding chapters relate especially to Meccan scenes and customs. The greater part of this work appeared first in the London Morning Post.—Index.

Tells the story of the men of General Joe Shelby's command who refused to surrender after the fall of the Confederacy and then offered their services to Maximilian, the French-imposed emperor of Mexico. Their messenger to convey this offer is John Dinwiddie Driscoll, a dare-devil, chivalrous young Missourian, who immediately on entering Mexico becomes involved in thrilling adventures in which he takes upon himself the protection of a fascinating French woman, sent as a secret emissary of Napoleon III. to deliver Mexico into his hands. Maximilian figures prominently in the story in anything but heroic light. After bitter struggling between her love for France and her love for the Missourian, even allowing herself to be lightly spoken of rather than betray her secret mission, Jacqueline at last stands clear before the world, free to make a choice.

Wallace, Sir Donald Mackenzie. Russia. New ed., rev., enl. and in great part rewritten. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1905. c. 20+672 p. por. folding maps, 8°, cl., $5.

The first edition of this work, published in 1877, contained the results of the author's six years' residence in Russia. Since then he has spent almost two years in the European and Central Asian provinces and has kept closely in touch with the progress of events. Determined at first to write an entirely new work on Russia, Wallace found upon investigation that the changes during the last quarter century had been all along the old lines; everywhere he perceived "continuity and evolution." So instead of writing an entirely new book, the author has prepared a much extended and amplified edition of the old one, reviewing, rearranging and supplementing the old material in the light of subsequent events. Five new chapters have been added, three on the revolutionary movement, one on the industrial progress, and another on the main lines of the present situation. The book has long been considered a standard work.

Wellford, E. T. The lynching of Jesus: a review of the legal aspects of the trial of Jesus. Richmond, Va., Presbyterian Committee of Publication, 1905. c. 110 p. D. cl., *50 c. net.

An opening chapter on present-day lynch-law is followed by an outline of the Jewish law as administered by the Sanhedrim in the time of Christ, special emphasis being laid on the orderly and deliberate method of procedure. Then in glaring contrast the author describes the trial of Jesus, and shows wherein it was contrary to all accepted Hebrew laws, and, therefore, must have been simply the result of mob rule.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 5, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE LONDON TIMES' BOOKSTORES AND CIRCULATING LIBRARIES.

It is reported that the London Times is contemplating the establishing of a circulating library and of a large bookshop in the West End of London for the accommodation of its annual subscribers only. This leads one of our English contemporaries to foresee the possibility of "The Thunderer's" also invading the publishing field. "Many works the property of the Times," says the London Publisher and Bookseller, "have by arrangement been issued for them by publishers. It seems feasible, therefore, that, while developing this library and bookstore scheme, they will more specifically become independent publishers, and may even enter actively into competition with publishers for the rights of important books. For example, it would be no matter for surprise if the official 'Life of Beaconsfield,' when it appears, were to carry the Times imprint. This would be a distinct departure, and if so, why not many other important books? They could certainly bring them to very great prominence, with the prospect of extensive sales."

It is no secret that many department stores make it a practice to sell certain articles, notably those of which the price is generally well known, at close to cost price, in fact, when forced to do so by other competitors, to sell them below actual cost. This is done not in the expectation of developing the departments in which such goods are slaughtered into profitable or self-supporting sections of the main business, as to lead the public to believe that the same pseudo-philanthropic policy fixes the prices of all the goods sold in the establishment, which, notoriously, is not the fact. We imagine, therefore, that the Times has figured out the problem of running a circulating library and bookstore not so much with a prospect of immediate profit on these two ventures as in the hopes that they may aid in raising its circulation, which, we understand, has of late years fallen away considerably. As for invading the publishing field, the Times very likely is not insensible to the fact that in having antagonized the retail book-trade by its present ventures, it would be obliged to overcome too many difficulties in finding or creating profitable sources of distribution to make the game worth the candle. It must be clear to the Times that it cannot expect the hearty support of men hitherto its faithful coadjutors, when it is taking steps to cut away the business of those men for its own benefit.

ACCORDING to a leading Melbourne bookseller, American novels are steadily winning favor with Australian readers. The outlook seems to be that American books in a short time will be a considerable slice of the book-trade in "the bush." In the meantime how many American publishers, in arranging for foreign markets, are keeping Australia in view? A country with upwards of five million English readers might be worth while cultivating. A few houses have tried the experiment with entire satisfaction with the results.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1905 will contain the catalogues and shorter lists of 321 publishers. Every bookseller knows its value. After its long and successful existence even its publishers can think of no new word to say of its merits as a time-saving trade-tool and reliable trade promoter. The volume is now in the bindery and will be ready for shipping within ten days. As heretofore, its price is $2, but any orders, accompanied by remittance, received before the day of publication will be filled at $1.50, according to long established custom.

THE INTERNATIONAL BIBLIOPHILE SOCIETY REPUDIATED.

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE writes from Ogunquit, Me., to The Nation in regard to the International Bibliophile Society as follows:

"My attention has been called to a publication calling itself 'The Bibliophile Library of Literature, Art, and Rare Manuscripts,' and bearing the imprint of 'The International Bibliophile Society.' My name is used as one of the editors.

"I wish to state emphatically that I have never been engaged by any International Bibliophile Society to edit any such 'Library.' I have the honor of being president of the Bibliophile Society, the publications of which are distributed only to members. It is not in any way a mercantile association; it consists of five hundred of the most enthusiastic book-lovers in the country. On its Council are men like the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Professor William P. Trent, of Columbia University. Through the courtesy and unselfish zeal of one of its Western members, it has been enabled to issue an unprecedentedly valuable series of books of literary and historical interest, such as 'Major André's Journal,' Marat's 'Lettres Polonaises,' and the like. The so-called International Bibliophile Society is apparently trying to trade on the reputation which our society has legitimately won. Its methods, as frequently brought to my notice by friends, are fraudulent and outrageous, and I have been advised to bring a legal injunction against their persistent use of my name, the only shadow of an excuse for which is the fact that, some years ago, I outlined a plan and helped to compile the 'International Library of Literature,' which was published by Merrill & Baker. The plan, embodying a combination of topical and chronological arrangements, thoroughly educational in character, was at one time attributed to Dr. Garnett, who promptly repudiated its authorship, and joined with me in a protest against having his name in any way associated with this same pseudo-International Bibliophile Society, though he is an enthusiastic member of the genuine society."

DEMAND FOR STEVENSON'S WORKS.

THE sales of individual books in the new Biographical edition of the works of Robert Louis Stevenson give an interesting indication of the comparative popularity of his various writings. The most remarkable fact is the evenness of the sales of his better known stories. Among the first books published in this edition were "Kidnapped," "David Balfour" and "New Arabian Nights." The sale of those three books has kept up at about the same rate, with "Kidnapped" slightly in the lead. Of the later volumes, which include "Treasure Island," "Prince Otto," "Island Night's Entertainment," "The Black Arrow," "The Master of Ballantrae," "An Inland Voyage," and "Travels with a Donkey," the one that easily heads the list is "Treasure Island," which promises soon to outdo in point of sales all the other books in the series.

SHAKESPEARE QUARTOS SOLD.

THE last sale of the season at Sotheby's, on July 29, will always be of historic interest, as it included five early Shakespeare quartos—the property of George Carrington, of Great Missenden, Eng. The total realized for the five books was $14,250, the prices of the separate books being as follows: "Second Part of the History of Henry the Fourth," 1605, (with the autograph of William Penn, probably the father of the founder of Pennsylvania, whose quarto copy of "King Richard the Third" was sold on July 12,) $2500; "True Chronicle History of the Life and Death of King Lear," 1608, $4500; "Tragedie of King Richard the Second," 1605, $1250; "Historie of King Henry the Fourth," with the Battle of Shrewsburie, 1608, $5000; "The Most Excellent Historie of the Merchant of Venice," etc., 1652, $1000. It is stated that the first four were bought for American collectors.

A STUPENDOUS COPYRIGHT FRAUD.

CHARLES MALHERBE, librarian of the Paris Opéra, has, according to the London Telegraph, made a strange discovery regarding Donizetti's copyrights in France. He met in Italy some time ago the grandnephews of the composer, Gaetano and Joseph Donizetti. In conversation he happened to say that he supposed the performances of their grand-uncle's operas in France brought in a fair sum to his heirs. The two Donizettis looked surprised, and answered that they had never been paid royalties on any French representations. M. Malherbe has made inquiries, and now believes this statement to be correct. Donizetti died in 1848, and the copyright of his works, according to French law, remained in force in France until 1898. The Society of Dramatic Authors and Composers undertakes to levy all royalties on all French performances. But by some extraordinary accident it is stated that this has not been done in the case of Donizetti's rightful heirs since 1870.

"It appears that in that year the composer's heirs heard from some one, believed to be a clerk of the society, that 'copyright royalties were no longer paid in France,' and were satisfied with this statement, troubling no more about the question afterward. Nevertheless, these royalties were regularly paid by the society. The conclusion is that they were drawn by the clerk in question. The latter, if this story be true, has therefore been thriving for twenty-eight years, until the copyright lapsed, on the proceeds of the performances of Donizetti's operas in France. The sum he is alleged to have thus pocketed amounts to tens of thousands of pounds. One can readily imagine that the author's royalties of about 5 per cent, on every representation of 'La Favorita,' 'Lucia di Lammermoor,' 'La Figlia di Regimento,' etc., from 1870 to 1898 in France, must reach a large total. The heirs of the writers of the libretti of the operas have duly received their share of the rights, whereas the heirs of the composer have, it is alleged, been frustrated of their due all that time."

COMMUNICATIONS.

CHEAP EDITIONS OF RECENT FICTION.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

THE season is close at hand when publishers will commence to advertise their new fall publications. We will get many calls for these books from customers who have read the reviews and criticisms.

In consideration of the fact that so many rebind editions are made of recent copyright fiction, would it not be well for the publisher to insert the line in his advertising "not published in any other edition," or "not published in cheaper editions?"

Our varied experience has taught us that over fifty per cent. of our customers on being shown new or protected fiction will ask for a cheaper or rebind edition, as they have been educated somewhat in this direction on account of so many publishers putting out a line of rebinds of their passé copyrights. Nevertheless, I am strongly in favor of rebinds, as it gives the masses a splendid chance for up-to-date good reading for a small outlay, and also gives the publisher and jobber a chance for a considerable profit in that a great number are sold in the course of a year, our business alone in this direction amounting to thousands of dollars, thanks to the enterprising firm who are pre-eminent in this line.

However, before putting out a line of rebinds or consenting to allow a cheaper edition to be made, the publisher should have some consideration for the retail dealer, who often suffers material loss when a cheap edition is thrust on the market without notice, in that he is nearly always caught with a considerable remainder of these titles on hand in the original edition, which he finds next to impossible to unload at a profit or even for cost when the cheaper edition is put on the market. I am of the opinion that it would be entirely proper to allow him the privilege of exchanging his remainder of the titles for the cheaper edition, dollar for dollar, provided, of course, that his unsold copies are in good, clean condition; or, better still, grant a rebate of a differential amount between the cost of the cheap editions and original editions.

Every retailer is aware of the fact that the greatest shrinkages in values occur in copyright or recent fiction. (I make this confession with apologies to the author of "Confessions of a Publisher.") Previous sales of any book by a certain author being no criterion as to the amount of sale of any forthcoming book by the same author, consequently I do not consider it an exorbitant request to ask the author to rebate the royalty to the publisher on all unsold copies of the original edition when a cheaper edition is put upon the market.

The publisher, jobber and retailer have expended their time and money in pushing the work, and I think it nothing more than right that the author should stand a little of the shrinkage in cases like the above.

Just one question before I close, and I ask it in all good faith; but before putting the said question, I desire to place myself on record to the extent that I am now, always have been, and always will be in favor of a uniform bottom price set for the sale of copyright fiction, for many reasons so well known to the exclusive booksellers it would be superfluous to mention them here. I have always adhered rigidly to the Association's provisions, and would like to see them "win out" in their several legal entanglements which are now in "lis pendens" before the New York courts.

A few weeks ago a copy of "Stingaree" was found in a store "under the ban" in Philadelphia, which had been sold originally by our jobber to us. Ten copies was all we had ever bought; seven copies we accounted for, as they were sold to customers with whom we had a personal acquaintance, yet we found on investigation this same store had on hand at that time twenty-five additional copies. Where did they come from? This question ought to be easily answered, as each book is supposed to contain a private number and a record of their disposition kept by the publisher and jobber.

I don't care a "rap" about these price-cutters. I can sell just as many books to my "constituency" for $1.08 as "my friend the enemy" can to his at 98 cents. But let us stand by our signatures rigidly; so I would like to ask of the "powers that be" this question, viz: If the source of supply of one or two books can be located, why not the source of supply of the thousands that are now piled up on the counters of those who are the complainants in the action of Macy & Co. vs. The American Publishers' Association. Let us be diligent in the search, and when the guilty party is found

"Lay on Macduff
And damned be he who first cries
Hold, enough!"

R. E. SHERWOOD.

OBITUARY NOTES.

GEORGE F. FULLER, a well-known writer of the past generation, died at Montvale, N. J., on July 4, aged eighty-five. Mr. Fuller's contributions to the Louisville Courier-Journal under the pseudonym of "Mahlistick" may still be remembered by older readers. He was likewise known as a landscape painter and as a theatrical manager, in which latter capacity fifty years ago he acted as agent for many stars and companies.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Burlington Magazine, for July, published in this country by Robert Grier Cooke, contains a number of articles of a practical nature. The leading paper is on "English Architectural Leadwork," the first of a series by Lawrence Weaver, showing some fine specimens of heads for water pipes and leaders. A short account of a seventeenth century wall paper is full of suggestion for the modern designer. An article on Sutton Place by Guildford, the famous Tudor manor, is of great practical interest to architects. There are besides notes on art abroad and in this country, the usual departments, etc. The frontispiece is a photogravure reproduction of a portrait of Mr. Vestries, by Gainsborough.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MRS. ELISABETH WILLARD BROOKS, the author of "As the World Goes By," one of the new novels published by Little, Brown & Co., was married late in June to Professor Maximilian L. Kellner, of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass. The bride was the widow of Rev. Arthur Brooks, late rector of the Church of the Incarnation, New York, a brother of Phillips Brooks. She is well-known in social circles in New York and Cambridge.

SIDNEY L. GULICK, whose two books on Japan, "The Evolution of the Japanese" and "The White Peril," have won him the admiration of both Americans and Japanese, has been appointed to the Chair of Systematic Theology in Doshisho, (the Christian University of Japan.) In preparation for his new duties, he has just completed a tour of visitation of the leading divinity schools of this country, and has now sailed for Germany to make a careful study of the methods of the leading German theological schools, and will spend next winter doing the same among the English and Scottish institutions.

IDA M. TARBELL, now that she has finished her character study of John D. Rockefeller, which begins in the current number of McClure's and will be concluded in August, is at work upon the story of the Standard Oil in Kansas. Miss Tarbell spent some time in the Kansas and adjacent oil fields in the early spring, but dropped the subject reluctantly to write her estimate of John D. Rockefeller's character, which was made a vital national question by the great tainted-money controversy. The Kansas situation is to be treated in two papers: "What Standard Oil Did to Kansas," "What Kansas did to Standard Oil." The titles indicate pretty clearly how the battle has progressed.

REUBEN GOLD THWAITES, the author of "France in America," just off the Harper press, the comprehensive edition of the "Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition," now published by Dodd, Mead & Co., and a number of other important historical works, was born in Dorchester, Mass., and received his education at the public schools there. Being ambitious, he studied collegiate courses by himself, and in 1874 took a post-graduate course at Yale. He was at this time but twenty-one years of age. He then became managing editor of the Wisconsin State Journal until 1886, at which time he resigned to become secretary and superintendent of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, and lecturer on American history at the University of Wisconsin. He is a member of the Wisconsin Free Library Commission, and was formerly president of the American Library Association, and chairman of the American Historical Manuscript Commission. He has published a number of historical works since 1888, besides many monographs on the history of New France and the Middle West. He has also edited many important works. "France in America," his latest book, covers a field to which the author has always given special study, and is volume VII. in the American Nation series, edited by Professor A. B. Hart, of Harvard University.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation a novel of New England rural life by Miss Alice Brown, entitled "Paradise."

W. A. WILDE & Co. have in press two interesting volumes by Miss Mary Hazelton. The first will inaugurate a new series to be known as Uncle Sam's Old Time Stories, the narratives being put into the mouth of an old-fashioned patriotic American. The book will be entitled "The Coming of the White Men," and will be illustrated by Sears Gallagher.

J. ARCHIBALD MURRAY, of New York City, trustee in bankruptcy, is now prepared to offer for sale as an entirety the business, goodwill and assets of Merrill & Baker, or to offer in parcels the stock in trade and publications of that corporation. He has prepared a detailed catalogue which can be examined at the trustee's office, or which will be sent upon request for inspection. The trustee will receive offers for the purchase of this property up to and including August 31. He reserves the right to reject any and all bids that may be made.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have received from Ella Middleton Tybout, author of the successful volume of short stories entitled "Pometown People," the manuscript of her first novel, which is to be called "The Wife of the Secretary of State," and will be issued early in the autumn. In October this house will bring out a new novel by Mrs. A. Maynard Barbour, author of "That Mainwaring Affair," but the title is still being discussed. A special holiday edition of "Miss Cherry Blossom," with many illustrations and a rich Japanese binding, is also in preparation.

A. N. MARQUIS & Co., Chicago, have just brought out "The Book of Chicagoans," a biographical dictionary of leading living men of the city of Chicago, edited by John W. Leonard, who has done such good editorial work on "Who is Who in America." The new book is modelled on the plan of the latter book. It confines itself to people of good standing and reputable vocation, and therefore some names prominently before the public in the daily press will be missed from its pages. It is planned from time to time to revise this compilation and corrections and new matter will always be appreciated.

MRS. THURSTON'S "The Masquerader," (Harper,) published in England as "John Chilcote, M.P.," has gone into a sixpenny edition in that country, and editions in translation have been arranged for, for Sweden, Norway and Denmark. Quite recently the Harpers received one order for this book covering 6000 copies, and it will probably get a new lease of life when it appears on the stage as promised in the fall. "The Marriage of William Ashe," which the same publishers are fortunate enough to control in this country, is also being dramatized by arrangement between William A. Brady and Mrs. Ward.

THE MONARCH BOOK COMPANY, long known as one of the largest subscription book publishing concerns in the West, has established a trade book department under the management of Andrew Hamming, who brings to the position an ample experience that makes him well fitted to bring up his department. They announce an "Official History of the Russian-Japanese War," by J. Martin Miller, fully illustrated; "The Blue Ribbon Cook Book," by Annie R. Gregory, who has been assisted by many practical housewives; "A Bundle of Sunshine," a book of cheer by Press Woodruff; also, a drawing book for the little folks.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY are again preparing for the holidays a new volume in the series of gorgeous color books Mortimer Menpes and his talented daughter Dorothy are devoting their lives to. This book is on "Brittany," for which the father furnishes seventy-five paintings from which the illustrations to the volume are made and for which the almost equally colored text is prepared by the daughter. A new volume is added to the Cambridge Geographical Series by G. Le Strange, devoted to "The Lands of the Eastern Caliphate: Mesopotamia, Persia and Central Asia from the Moslem Conquest to the Time of Timur," which will be an important addition to the world's knowledge of the Orient. The early autumn will bring Emerson Hough's new novel, "Heart's Desire," and Eden Phillpotts's volume of short stories, entitled "Knock On a Venture."

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING CO. have two attractive juveniles on their summer lists. "Flower Babies," by Elizabeth May, with pictures by Ida May Rockwell, shows one hundred of our common flowers in natural colors, accompanied by bright verses which describe the colored illustrations of children at play. "Jim Crow Tales" contains a wealth of field lore, describing in fiction form wild life, frolics and work of the denizens of the forest. The author, Burton Stoner, is said to have gathered the bulk of his material during a long stay in northern lumber-camps. This house also has in preparation a most useful work by Dr. Benjamin F. Weaver, entitled "The Lightning Doctor," wherein are fully described various diseases and the best known remedies. There are many illustrations showing where pains may be located and the diseases of which each one is a symptom.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish shortly the first volume of J. E. Wessely's "Pocket Dictionary of the English and French Languages," rewritten, improved and much enlarged by Edward Latham; a new illustrated edition of Captain Mayne Reid's stories, "The Flag of Distress," "The Death Shot," and "The White Chief," with illustrations by F. C. Tilney; "An Alphabet of Athletics," by Eustace Miles, in the Fitness Series, giving instructions for the correct positions in the different games, some physical exercises, etc.; "Studies of Great Composers," by C. Hubert I. Parry, dealing with Handel, Bach, Mozart, Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Weber, Schubert, Schumann, Wagner and others; also, in the Photogravure Series, a new authorized edition of Andrew Lang's well-known translation of "Aucassin and Nicolette," with illustrations, in photogravure, from the drawings by Gilbert James.

THE GRAFTON PRESS appeal to a large public of Princeton graduates and students as well as to townspeople in publishing their "Handbook of Princeton." The author, John Rogers Williams, knows whereof he writes, as he is connected with an administrative department of the university. He tells the history of the college, describes its grounds and buildings, and pays special attention to the Theological Seminary, Lawrenceville School and Princeton town. President Woodrow Wilson has contributed an introduction, and there are numerous engraved illustrations taken especially for this book, while both paper and binding are excellent. The Grafton Press also announce that they have secured for publication in America a number of genealogical and historical publications of T. C. & E. C. Jack, of London. The list includes such works as Fox-Davies's "Armorial Families," the Marquis of Ruigny and Raineval's "The Jacobite Peerage," "The Blood Royal of Britain," etc.

FOX, DUFFIELD & Co. announce for early publication a story by Clarence S. Darrow, of Chicago, entitled "An Eye for an Eye." Mr. Darrow, who is special counsel for Mayor Dunne, of Chicago, in the matter of municipal ownerships and also counsel for the Teamsters' Union, has been in the very thick of recent sociological developments in the city on Lake Michigan. "An Eye for an Eye," which is only the second book he has ever published, tells the story of a murder and the murderer's expiation of his crime, the narrative taking the form of a long talk between the murderer and a friend who visits him in prison the night before the hanging. They have in preparation an illustrated edition of Kenyon Cox's "Old Masters and New;" also a book on the history of those English "miracles" and "moralities," of which "Everyman" is now so familiar, prepared by Professor Charles Mills Gayley, author of "The Star of Bethlehem," who is United States delegate to the International Congress on the Reproduction of Manuscripts to meet at Brussels this summer.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY, the Bodley Head, have just brought out a volume entitled "Thought Forms," by Annie Besant and C. W. Leadbeater, in which the authors, from a theosophical standpoint, are putting before students a little more plainly that has hitherto been done some of the facts in nature which they think will render more intelligible the results at which Dr. Baraduc, of Paris, is arriving in his experiments of photographing the subtle forces invisible to the eye. In the present volume the drawing and painting of the thought forms observed by the authors has been done by John Varley, Mr. Prince and Miss Macfarlane. The drawings, for the most part in color, are reproduced in their original tones in fifty-eight illustrations. The forms shown, it is claimed, are not imaginary, but are drawn from life, being representations of forms actually observed, and reproduced with all possible care and fidelity by those who have seen them or with the help of artists to whom the seers have described them.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of free nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers; to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

State Publications

A Provisional List of the Official Publications of the Several States of the United States from their Organization

COMPILED UNDER THE EDITORIAL DIRECTION OF

R. R. BOWKER

PART I: NEW ENGLAND STATES—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut

Includes preface giving a sketch of State Bibliography.

PART II: NORTH CENTRAL STATES—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin

The complete work, exceeding 500 pages, will be furnished at $5. Subscriptions will be received only for the whole work.

 But 500 copies have been printed and there are no plates.

The attention of State libraries, of the central public libraries, and of foreign libraries is especially called to this publication, but it is also important to that larger number of libraries which cannot undertake to collect the State publications even of their own State, and yet should be able to inform students and inquirers as to what is to be found in the publications of their own State and of other States. What New York and Massachusetts are doing in forestry, for instance, is of importance in all States and to foreign students of the subject.

Publications of Societies

A Provisional List of the Publications of American Scientific, Literary, and Other Societies from their Organization

R. R. BOWKER

This volume, of 186 pages, schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. It will be found of use in all libraries—in large libraries as a check-list, in small libraries as a bibliographical key to a most important field of special literature.

New Book by the Author of The Spenders

The Boss of Little Arcady

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Illustrated and Decorated by ROSE CECIL O'NEILL

Price, $1.50

In this book Mr. Wilson shows, in even greater measure, the power and charm which made "The Spenders" a permanent favorite beyond any other American novel of its year. Mr. Wilson's friends, who have examined this, his latest work, are delighted that he has gone back to the field of pure entertainment and genuine American humor in which he made so distinct and lasting a success.

PARISIANS OUT-OF-DOORS

By F. BERKELEY SMITH

Author of "How Paris Amuses Itself" and "The Real Latin Quarter."

If you read this bright and breezy book you will go with the author everywhere out of doors with Parisians, at play within the sparkling city itself, among the merry-makers of the Bois, in cozy café terraces, and in all the corners of unroofed Paris; out of Paris, in sylvan nooks and kingly forests, over smooth highways sentineled by lofty poplars, through fields gay in poppies; at the seashore resorts, on the sunny sands at Trouville, in the flower scented Riviera; in quaint inns and villages of Normandy—yes, everywhere where Parisians amuse themselves out of doors.

FREDERIC REMINGTON says: "Smith's delightfully sympathetic Paris ['Parisians Out of Doors'] would make a wooden Indian part with his cigars."

"It is a kaleidoscopic miscellany of anecdote, grave and gay; brief bits of biography and impressionistic portrayal of types, charming glimpses into Parisian life and character, and, above all, descriptions of the city's chief, and, to outward view, sole occupation—the art of enjoying oneself. Tourists have learned that Mr. Smith is able to initiate them into many mysteries uncatalogued or only guardedly hinted at by more staidly respectable and professional guides."—The Globe, New York.

"Mr. Smith holds the world of Paris in the hollow of his hand. This is an ideal book for summer reading."—New York Press.

"As bright and entertaining as either of his predecessors."—New York Times.

"Altogether delightful in its wanderings and its chattiness and its drawings."—New York World.

"His descriptions of life in Paris are fascinating."—Standard Union, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"In a breezy, informal style, the author pictures every form of out-of-door amusement in and about the capital of the world's fun."—Nashville American.

12mo, cloth, illustrated with drawings by the author and several French artists, and water-color frontispiece by F. Hopkinson Smith. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.64

First and Second Editions Sold Out. Third Edition in Press

"It is replete with anecdotes, and observations relating to the humorous side of life, intimate bits of interesting personalia, and bright and witty chat concerning things in general."—Pittsburg Leader.

THE SUNNY SIDE of the STREET

By MARSHALL P. WILDER

In the irresistible pages of this merry book you will find a wealth of interesting personalia about prominent men the author has known. You will find innumerable amusing and entertaining experiences, stories and anecdotes, and in order that Mr. Wilder's feast may not be all sauce, there are many little bits of pathos that cannot help but warm your heart.

President Theodore Roosevelt: "His stories are excellent" | Ex-President Grover Cleveland: "The prince of entertainers."

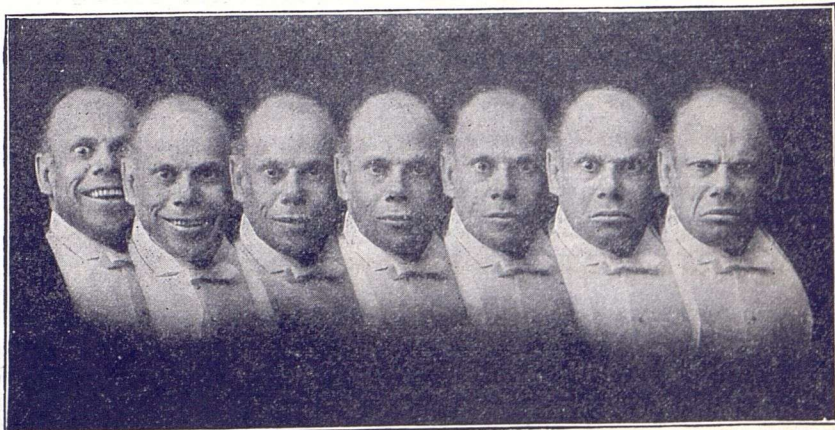

"Reading this book is like listening to a humorous lecture by Marshall P. Wilder, full of wit and brightness, and it will cheer and comfort the most morose man or woman just to read it."

—Baltimore American.

Illustrated with humorous drawings. 12mo, cloth, ornamental cover. Frontispiece portrait of the author. 350 pp.
